Lawful bases and data protection rights

Under UK data protection law, we must have a “lawful basis” for collecting and using your personal information. There is a list of possible lawful bases in the UK GDPR. You can find out more about lawful bases on the ICO’s website.

Which lawful basis we rely on may affect your data protection rights which are in brief set out below. You can find out more about your data protection rights and the exemptions which may apply on the ICO’s website:

- Your right of access - You have the right to ask us for copies of your personal information. You can request other information such as details about where we get personal information from and who we share personal information with. There are some exemptions which means you may not receive all the information you ask for. You can read more about this right here.
- Your right to rectification - You have the right to ask us to correct or delete personal information you think is inaccurate or incomplete. You can read more about this right here.
- Your right to erasure - You have the right to ask us to delete your personal information. You can read more about this right here.

- Your right to restriction of processing - You have the right to ask us to limit how we can use your personal information. You can read more about this right here.
- Your right to object to processing - You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data. You can read more about this right here.
- Your right to data portability - You have the right to ask that we transfer the personal information you gave us to another organisation, or to you. You can read more about this right here.
- Your right to withdraw consent – When we use consent as our lawful basis you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. You can read more about this right here.

If you make a request, we must respond to you without undue delay and in any event within one month.

To make a data protection rights request, please contact us using the contact details at the top of this privacy notice.

Our lawful bases for the collection and use of your data

How long we keep information

Our data will only be kept for as long as there is an administrative need to do so in order to enable our charity to carry out its business or support functions, or for as long as it is required to demonstrate compliance for audit purposes or to meet legislative requirements.

In general, records are kept for 6 years after the end of the accounting year to which they relate, but we do not keep personal records any longer than necessary and certain records may be required to be retained for longer.

We consider various criteria when determining the appropriate retention period for personal data including:

- The purposes for which we process your personal data and how long we need to keep the data to achieve these purposes.

- How long personal data is likely to remain accurate and up-to-date.
- For how long the personal data might be relevant to possible future legal claims
- Any applicable legal, accounting, reporting or regulatory requirements which specify how long certain records must be kept.
- Other factors including storage costs, historical value, industry standards, and archival needs, of which we are aware and will be compliant.
